Twice-a-week Publication Starts Soon

Need Seen for More Frequent Coverage of Local News Sources

Concerted Cooperation Needed by Publishers in New Venture

The Sierra Madre Press, a new newspaper, will make its bow to the Sierra Madre public, on Tuesday, November 1. Thereafter the Press will appear regularly every Tuesday.

The Sierra Madre Press will be printed and published by the publishers of the Sierra Madre News, which will continue to appear on Friday as usual. The News recently entered upon its 22nd year.

The decision to issue two papers a week was reached by the publishers of the News after careful study of the situation. They believe there is sufficient live news occurring in Sierra Madre to justify more frequent publication than once a week. Some advertisers have also expressed the idea that their advertising would have more value if it could appear at more frequent intervals.

Present subscribers of the Sierra Madre News will receive the Press also up to the expiration of their present subscriptions without extra charge.

The price of the News and Press combined will be $3.00 a year. Subscriptions will be taken for either paper separately at $2 per year. But it will be necessary to take both papers in order to keep up with all that is going on in Sierra Madre, for news matter appearing in one paper will be repeated in the other. They will not be duplicates in any way. For a limited time subscriptions will be received for the two papers at the present rate for the News of $2.00 per year.

It is the hope of the publishers of the News that the twice-a-week publication will meet with popular approval as something of real community value. It is believed that it will be of special benefit to organization work as well as to private business. It will cut down the interval between published announcements and the events themselves, and will permit more prompt reporting of a large proportion of news events.

Frankly, the amount of additional work and expense involved makes it a venture of no mean proportions, in which the publishers take all the risk. The cooperation of the public is asked without hesitation because of its importance to the community.

Another unusual opportunity appears in connection with the subscription campaign now being carried on by the Pasadena Morning Sun. For a limited time a special club offer is made through the cooperation of the publishers of the Pasadena Sun and the Sierra Madre News. A special rate of $5.25 for one year will be made for the Sierra Madre News and Press, and the Pasadena Morning Sun. Think of it—your local paper twice a week, and the Sun with its general news every week. The regular price of the Sun is $5.00 yearly, and the regular price of the Sierra Madre News and Press will be $3.00 yearly. By ordering them together you get them for $5.25 and save $2.75. Truly, this is an opportunity not to be passed up lightly.

In honor of the fourth birthday anniversary of their daughter Charlene, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rasbach entertained a number of her young friends Sunday evening at their home, 132 South Hermosa Avenue. The hallowe'en idea was in evidence in decorations and refreshments. The guests included Virginia Plather, Betty Jo Adams, Marie Brodell, Marguerite Warden, Ed Monrovia, David, Allen and Rodger Wood, Lloyd Stovall and Bobbie Schultz. The parents of the young guests were also present at the party.

Work of the Baby Clinic, operated under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association, assisted by the county health department, is continuing with growing interest, according to reports from the local organization. The next session will be conducted Thursday, October 27 in the park house from 9:30 to 12 o'clock.

MRS. BESSY GLENN TO 'COVER' NEWS FOR NEWS-PRESS

Mrs. Bessy Glenn, a newspaper writer of wide experience in the daily newspaper field in Southern California, has been secured by the News to act as city and society editor of the Sierra Madre News and Press, soon to be conducted under a new policy of twice-a-week publication.

Mrs. Glenn until recently has been county editor of the Pomona Progress and through her ability made the county page one of the most interesting features of this leading publication.

The News feels very fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. Glenn and takes this opportunity to introduce her to our readers, and ask, in her behalf, fullest cooperation in the matter of securing news in the various channels in Sierra Madre.

Turkeys Are Offered By Legion Post

Carnival, Dance and Card Party Scheduled for Armistice Day

Twelve turkeys will be featured in the Armistice night carnival, plans for which are today being formulated by members of local American Legion post. Executive board members met with the general committee on arrangements at a specially called meeting last Tuesday night when the first plans for the big event were made.

A further discussion of the affair, to be in the nature of a dance, carnival and card party in the Woman's Club house will be held Thursday evening, October 27, at the regular meeting of the post, it was stated by R. R. Moreland, commander. Committees in charge of all booths, entertainment, dancing, refreshments, decorating and cards will be appointed at that time.

The king bird of the season has not been forgotten by the Legion committee, and twelve turkeys will be secured to take part in the evening's celebration. The American Legion Auxiliary will have change of the refreshments, and the ladies are also busy making plans for one of the biggest celebrations of the year.

Members of the executive board present last Tuesday night were R. R. Moreland, Dr. Gilbert S. Bovard, R. O. Caukin, James Farndale, Father Edwin Ronan, George Haggood, Robert Steinberger, R. W. Stewart and Ted Rallsback.

Water Dept. Bond Issue Is Proposed

With a total tax rate 14 cents on each $100 valuation less than last year's rate, the city council believe the way has been paved for consideration of a municipal bond issue for extension and betterment of the water department.

At last week's meeting Councilman Belohlavek presented a motion which was adopted, instructing the city engineer to bring in a report on the needs of the water department in the way of permanent improvements and betterments with an estimate of the cost to serve as the basis of a bond issue to pay for the same. Opinions vary greatly as to the probable expense necessary and the report of Engineer Gierlich is expected to clarify the situation somewhat.

All members of the board were present, with Mayor Topping in the chair.

The hearing of protests on the Churchill Road project was postponed until Thursday, Oct. 27.

Iron posts, with chains suspended between will be installed around the little pool in the city park to keep people from wandering into the water on dark nights. On motion of Councilman Isaacs the matter was referred to the street committee with power to act.

A request was received from B. F. Miller for a permit to hold public dancing at Calumet Lodge on Churchill Road. On motion of Councilman Fitzwilliam he was notified that permission would be granted if he could procure the written consent of a majority of the residents living within 500 feet of his place.

Wider Scope Undertaken By Chamber

Many Committees Appointed to Aid Work of Civic Organization

Sierra Madre's Fame as Home Community Seen In Inquiries

Ten inquiries from as many points in the United States have been received and answered by the chamber of commerce secretary, Gordon Brooks, during the past week. Each inquiry represents a live possibility of a permanent resident or an addition to Sierra Madre's business section, according to Mr. Brooks, who states that through such sources three families have settled in the community in the past three months.

The ten letters, all received during the past seven days, have especially questioned the climate and the business possibilities of the community. One very favorable communication comes from an eastern optician who is seeking a location in Southern California.

Other letters are from Alabama, Oregon, New York City, San Francisco and Fullerton, the last also from a merchant who has heard of the possibilities in Sierra Madre and who is seeking information with an eye to settling here.

It is with this service in view, as well as the many other activities sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, that a plan of reorganization has been struck upon and will be discussed at the meeting of the directors Monday evening at 7:45.

A number of standing committees, several of them opening up entirely new work, have been decided upon in order that the organization may have added opportunity for serving the community. Under the new plan there will be a chamber of commerce committee standing ready to assist in practically any activity for the betterment of Sierra Madre, and it is hoped to obtain the support and co-operation of every resident in carrying out the project.

It is announced that appointments will be made as follows: Merchants retail committee: Fred Griebenow, F. H. Hartman, Henry Olsen, J. F. Sadler, W. E. Pratt.

Agriculture and reforestation: Walter Poehler, Col. Herman Hall, Miss Thomasella H. Graham, Ernest Bockman, W. S. Andrews.

Water: Walter Poehler, Thomas Tyler, Chas. Klunk, J. D. Sparks, W. J. Lawless.

Publicity and promotion: Joe R. Eastwood, Mrs. Emil Sturmthal, George Morgridge, Lindley Eddy.

County and municipal affairs: Robert Mitchell, Henry Isaacs, R. R. Moreland, R. S. Corlett.

Highways and roads: J. M. Campbell, Jim Hawks, Tom Tyler, M. P. Phillips, R. W. Buck.

Finance and audit: Ray Grant, Herbert Ingraham, L. Dietz.

Membership: R. R. Moreland, W. D. Richards, George Norris, W. S. Hull, Woodson Jones, Geo. Haggood, O. E. Emley.

Education: E. D. Burbank, Dr. Gilbert Bovard, R. G. McLellan, George Morgridge, Laura M. Cline.

Health and sanitation: Mrs. Estelle Fennel, Mrs. Jack Wright, Mrs. George Oswald, Thomas Neale, Dr. John Woehler, Dr. Bovard.

Transportation: George Mesecar, S. R. G. Twycross, Al Myers, Walter Alley, R. L. Fitzwilliam.

Entertainment: James Hawks, Jack Buchanan, Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger, Mrs. C. A. Allen, Joe R. Eastwood.

Mrs. Olivia R. Beers, for several years a resident of Sierra Madre, passed away on Monday in Santa Barbara where she has resided since leaving Sierra Madre. She was the wife of the late Dr. Chas. Beers and is survived by two children, Margaret and Leroy. During her residence in Sierra Madre Mrs. Beers was an active worker in the Woman's Club and the Congregational Church, being highly regarded for her great capabilities. Funeral services were held on Wednesday in Los Angeles, the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCabe. Miss Jessie Ward of Sierra Madre was among those attending the services.

HAVE A HEART WHEN PASSING HOSPITAL ZONE

Who could fail to be moved by this appeal from a patient in the Sierra Madre Hospital concerning noise nuisances? Most of us hear these noises occasionally, and dismiss them from mind without much thought. But think of a sick person lying where they have no protection from such law-breakers. Here is the appeal:

"As a patient in the Sierra Madre Hospital I would like to call the attention of the readers of this paper and their friends to this Hospital on Baldwin Avenue and the hospital zone signs. How many of all those passing can possibly read these signs? A matter of comment among the patient and we ask: 'Why is it that any one with a motor-cycle out of order has to try it out on Baldwin Avenue, and actually between these hospital zone signs?'"

"Also, 'why is it necessary for most drivers to roar up Baldwin Avenue in the evenings, and especially between 12 and 2 a. m.?'"

"To a person roaring by on a motorcycle or in a high powered car in a few seconds of time these few questions may sound trivial, but to a very ill or very nervous patient they are vital."

New Officers Of Auxiliary Are Elected

Mrs. Ralph Stewart Honored By Election to County Council Office

Plans for the installation of the newly elected officers of the American Legion Auxiliary are being made by members of the organization. Installation will be on the evening of November 17, it is learned from Mrs. Ralph Stewart, who will head the organization during 1928.

Election was held Thursday evening, October 13, following the joint meeting with the Legion, with the following results: President, Mrs. Ralph Stewart; first vice president, Mrs. M. D. Welsh; second vice president, Mrs. Ted Rallsback; past president, Mrs. Blanche Muskrath; secretary, Mrs. Ben Medley; treasurer, Mrs. Agnes Tyree; chaplain, Mrs. Hortense Hill; historian, Mrs. George Haggood; sergeant at arms, Mrs. C. Fred Ishoy; executive committee, Mrs. Henry Olsen, Miss Elizabeth Steinberger and Mrs. Victor Hill.

The women are preparing to assist the Legion members with the big carnival and dance on Armistice night, and are busy making plans for the refreshments for that evening.

Mrs. Ralph Stewart, newly elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary of Sierra Madre, has also received recognition from the county council, having been elected first vice president at the October meeting held in Los Angeles on the 7th.

Mrs. Stewart was not present at the meeting, but has been notified of her election. She has also been notified of a county luncheon to be held at the Edgewood Club in Santa Monica on November 4, the affair open to all members of the Auxiliary. She will take reservations from Sierra Madre women desiring to attend.

REGIONAL CONFERENCE OF RED CROSS CHAPTERS

The Regional Conference of Red Cross Chapters in Southern California will be held in the Shakespear Club, Pasadena, Monday, October 24th, beginning at 10 a. m. Dr. Chauncey P. Biggs will preside and the principal address will be delivered by Mrs. J. A. Jeffers of San Francisco, manager of the Pacific Division, A.R.C.

Luncheon will be served to the delegates at noon, and the afternoon will be devoted to a discussion of the relief work being done by the various chapters. At 2 o'clock a motion picture film of the Mississippi Flood Relief will be shown. A cordial invitation is extended to Sierra Madre members to be present. Notify Robt. Mitchell if you can go.

The Woman's Guild of the Church of the Ascension is planning its winter's work. There will be a sale of fancy articles, aprons, cooked food and candy at the parish house the afternoon of Friday, November 4, followed by a dinner at 6:30 the same day in the parish house. A play will be given by local talent at the club house about November 18 and 19. Notice to be made later.

New Plan Is Adopted For P.T.A. Help

'Room Mothers' Will Assist Teachers In Meeting Problems

Splendid Program to Be Offered at Hallowe'en Party

Room mothers, one for each grade, have been appointed by the Parent-Teachers' Association president, Mrs. R. R. Moreland, and will constitute a new department in the organization. The woman appointed as "room mother" will cooperate with the teacher of that particular grade in every manner possible, with a view to obtaining a closer connection between the home and school life of the children. She will be guided in her duties by the needs of the particular group of children with which she is working and by the special home conditions of those pupils. The room mother will also assist the refreshment chairman in providing tea for each meeting.

The plan was adopted Wednesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the P.T.A. by the large group of women in attendance. The session was one of the most enthusiastic and successful of the year, according to the president.

Mrs. George McRoberts, membership chairman, announced that the membership drive would be extended to November 4 because of requests received from several rooms. The campaign has been most successful, although there will be a slight decrease in membership this year, due to the transfer of 7th and 8th grades.

Mrs. J. C. Heasley, who is in charge of the program for the Hallowe'en party on October 28 announced that she had secured several numbers through the courtesy of Mrs. Payne, who will supply interpretative dancers for the evening. Pupils from the Payne School of Dancing at Hollywood will take part. There will also be instrumental and vocal music.

Donations have been received for the fish pond and for the white elephant booth. Packages are still being received. A few mothers have signified intentions of entering the evening frolic in costume, and it is hoped that others will follow suit.

The program as announced today is as follows: Late afternoon, parade of children in costume, headed by Boy Scouts; dinner served in cafeteria at 6:30 p. m.; early evening parade in costume and awarding of prizes for best boy's and best girl's costumes; contests in rear patio with prizes for winner; program in rear patio instead of in the building as previously announced; booths in front patio open during evening, including fortune-telling, stand and refreshments.

The affair, which is an annual one, is the only financial aid made upon Sierra Madre residents by the P.T.A. and funds are needed badly for the general child-welfare work, according to members.

Included in the year's program of the organization, aside from the furnishing of morning milk for children who are unable to pay for it and the sponsoring of the cafeteria, is the work of the summer health session and the correction of defects discovered at that time and during the regular school year. Dental work, glasses for defective eyes, special shoes for children with foot trouble and many other matters are handled by the local organization, which is now asking for the cooperation of the community in the support of the Hallowe'en festival.

COPIES OF NEWS OF OCTOBER 14 MUCH WANTED

Copies of the October 14 issue of the Sierra Madre News have become scarce and are wanted by several people. On account of the number of anniversaries, birthdays, etc., chronicled therein there was an unusual demand for extra copies. The usual number were printed and were soon exhausted. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dickson whose golden wedding celebration was mentioned are very anxious to obtain several additional copies of the paper to send to distant friends. So if you have a copy of last week's News handy you will confer a distinct favor by handing it to them or bringing it to the News office.

West Coasters On Program At Breakfast

Nate Farnum Offers Bits of Humor and Promotes Hilarity

The second breakfast of the Foothills Breakfast Club was held under the spreading oaks at the Santa Anita Riding Club Thursday morning, with President Fred Beatty (just recovering his "land legs" after a sea voyage to San Francisco) in the chair.

Following the breakfast a fine program was presented by Joe Chappell and Glenn Hood, stars of the West Coast circuit, who were introduced by Nat Farnum, the main spring of the great organization. Before the young men launched into their group of instrumental and vocal numbers Mr. Farnum, in the well-known "imitable" manner (which in his case is just that) regaled the breakfasters with a rapid fire of wise "wise-cracks," giving a fine example of what is known as "injecting personality." Mr. Farnum certainly has "it."

Mr. Beatty gave the members a "line" on what they may expect from the riding club in return for the arrangements made by the executive officers: Use of the club facilities, riding, swimming, etc., every Thursday morning; use of the clubrooms for one evening meeting each month, on ladies' night. The club starts with full equipment of tables, dishes, etc., and there will be no debts at any time, and no assessments against the members. Sam Reiser of Glendora has donated a 500-lb. bell which will be used each Thursday morning to call the members to their hom and eggs.

Next Thursday morning Earle Lavere, famous accordionist from the West Coast Theatres. A speaker will be secured, to be announced later.

Present from Sierra Madre at Thursday morning's meeting were Hugo Carlson, Harvey Steinberger, M. Penn Phillips, R. E. Hambaugh, Dr. Krebs, W. L. Williams, T. J. Burns and Joe R. Eastwood.

'Jimmie' Has Will Rogers As Passenger

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. James and family of Montebello were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Victor C. Hill of 47 South Lima Street. Mr. James, who is one of the best known pilots of the Western Air Express, carries the mail regularly between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City.

Tuesday morning "Jimmie," as Mr. James is widely known, had as a passenger Will Rogers, cowboy humorist and movie star, who said he was leaving for New York on a little shopping trip, chiefly to make some dress goods for his wife. Taking breakfast in Los Angeles on Tuesday, his schedule called for dinner in New York Wednesday night. Just a little demonstration of what may be more or less commonplace in the future.

"Jimmie" James is well known to many Sierra Madre people. He and Victor Hill were stationed at March Field during the war and leaves of absence were usually spent here. Jimmie piloted the first plane when the air mail service was started on the Los Angeles and Salt Lake route.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Rallsback of 233 West Grand View Avenue entertained with a joint birthday dinner in honor of Mr. Rallsback's father, J. T. Rallsback Sr. and his brother, Walter Rallsback.

Guests Put On Meeting For Kiwanis

Monrovia Club Presides at Enthusiastic First Meeting Local Body

Speaker Tells Kiwanians to 'Know Their Oil' and Avoid Grief

Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club got off to a flying start at its first meeting Tuesday noon. More than seventy men sat down to the delicious luncheon prepared by members of the Woman's Club and served in the Wistaria Room of the club house. Of these, about 40 were members of the Monrovia Kiwanis club who came over for the purpose of giving their new neighbor club a good sendoff, the remainder being charter members of the Sierra Madre Club.

President Pat Ronan presided and expressed keen appreciation of the honor of being the sponsoring club. He pledged complete support and cooperation, not only in giving the new club a start but in keeping it going. And when the forty Monrovia business men joined in the demonstration of how Kiwanis songs ought to be sung it was evident they had their hearts in the whole business.

Robert Radford, lieutenant governor of the district, pledged his personal support and promised to be present whenever desired. All Kiwanians were urged to attend the annual convention of the California-Nevada District which will be held in Hollywood November 3, 4 and 5. A letter from Buster Keaton on behalf of the film colony backed up the invitation.

At the conclusion of the luncheon the whole company moved into the main auditorium where a delightful program was staged by the visitors. President Ronan turned the meeting over to Reeve Hobbie, district trustee, as program chairman for the day. Joe Waterbury, past president of the Monrovia Club, was introduced and said he was under the necessity of mentioning a matter involving serious possibilities.

There has been too much knocking, Mr. Waterbury said, in connection with the formation of the club. He thought the wise thing to do was to bring it out in the open and have it over with at once. So he would call upon two of the heaviest knockers to come forward, naming Milton and Harvey Steinberger. Unwrapping a large package he displayed a piece of timber into which several large spikes had been started. Giving a hammer to each of the brothers he told them to see which was the best knocker, and the resulting contest was highly amusing.

"Know Your Oil" Jack French of the Richfield Oil Company was then introduced for a talk on oil, but before his address he presented Frank E. Geiger, a leading basso of Los Angeles, for a group of delightful songs. He was accompanied by Paul Carson of Glendale. Mr. French pointed out the fact that he and Mr. Geiger were fellow members of the Los Angeles Optimists club and Mr. Carson was a member of the Glendale Rotary club, an example of the fine spirit existing between service clubs all striving with the same general purpose.

Mr. French proved to the audience that he certainly knew oil. In the space of about twenty minutes he told in rapid-fire fashion more about the production and use of lubricating oils than most use of his hearers had heard in all of their lives. He called attention to the similarity of the Kiwanis, Rotary and other emblems to the wheel upon which much of the progress of civilization has depended, both in transportation and industry. But wheels are useless without lubricants. Hence the importance of oil in the symbolism of the service club idea.

How oil is extracted from the crude petroleum as it comes from the ground, and how the cracking process breaks up the petroleum so it can be separated or distilled over into its various grades of gasoline and lubricants were most graphically portrayed. Then Mr. French described the various properties of oil and the reasons why different grades of oil must be used for different purposes, such as different bearing surfaces, degrees of pressure, how constant or varying temperature affects oil, and what happens when oil is diluted by gasoline and impurities.

Children Aid to Red Cross In Roll Call

More than 6,000,000 young citizens of the United States are going to play their part in the eleventh annual roll call, conducted by the American Red Cross from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving to enlist members. These include members of the Junior Red Cross and the Boy and Girl Scouts of America.

For the first time "Scouts" will participate in presenting the membership invitation. In response to suggestions from national headquarters of the American Red Cross in Washington, the national councils of the two organizations have agreed to help by having the Scouts ask their parents to join. This is to constitute their "good turn" for the day.

Neither the Boy Scouts nor the Girl Scouts will actually solicit memberships or accept dues, since it is contrary to the policy of their organizations to have the children solicit money for any cause. Their aim will be to throw into the scales the weight of youthful public opinion by carrying the Red Cross appeal into their own homes.

The Junior Red Cross has a membership of more than 5,000,000 school children, the Boy Scouts a membership of 865,000 and the Girl Scouts approximately 150,000 members.

Bazaar To Be Held Early In December

Sewing for the bazaar is taking up a large portion of time at the Ladies' Aid meetings at the Congregational Church, and Tuesday's all-day meeting will be no exception, according to the president, Mrs. E. E. Bacon. The meeting will open at 10 o'clock, and the women will prepare articles for the bazaar, which will be held the first Friday in December.

Although the bazaar is an annual event, and in the past has built up a splendid reputation for itself, this year's event gives promise of being the star performance, as indicated by the lovely hand towels, embroidered luncheon cloths and fancy articles being worked upon by the women at the meetings.

Next Tuesday, October 25, the hot dish and coffee will be prepared by Mrs. Louise Gray, Mrs. C. W. Jones, Mrs. Ora Caskey and all members are requested to supply sandwiches.

Native Tree Records To Be Printed

The "family trees" of California's trees soon will be traced down, charted and presented to the public in book form, if negotiations started by State Forester M. B. Pratt reach a successful conclusion. The dendrology, or study of the trees, furthermore, will be restricted to common trees of California, rather than a few of the aristocrats of the forests, to permit residents of the state to acquaint themselves with the history and peculiarities of the species which they most frequently come in contact with.

"Our belief," explained the state forester, "is that the people will have a higher regard for their trees if they know them. The book, according to present plans, will be made available without charge to all lovers of trees, and should have the effect of bringing about a deeper appreciation of our greater natural resources, particularly the forests."

In addition to giving the life story of each California tree of common variety the book will carry drawings and other illustrations. It will represent an excellent, but non-technical text for the person who would know more of the trees that comprise California's great forests.

Some of the trees listed for inclusion in the book are the California Buckeye, California Laurel, Black Oak, Interior Live Oak, Valley Oak, Blue Oak, Tan Oak, California Black Walnut, Sugar Pine, Yellow Pine, Digger Pine, Knobcone Pine, Monterey Pine, Red Fir, White Fir, Big Tree, Redwood, Incense Cedar and the Monterey Cypress.

Sale to Offer Many Rare Bargains

Bargain counter crowds on Monday mornings in the city of New York will have "nothing on" those at the rummage sale opening today at 10 o'clock under the auspices of the Congregational Ladies' Aid Society. Mrs. L. E. Wheeler who is in charge of the event advises the line to form to the right of the entrance to No. 17, Sierra Madre Hotel Building, well before the doors are thrown wide to the public.

Not an ordinary rummage sale, at which shoddy garments are sold to a shamefaced group of customers, but an opportunity to purchase slightly used furniture, dishes, pictures, toys and clothing at greatly reduced rates, is the inducement held out by the committee in charge. Among the finest of wares to be offered are several sets of practically new drapes and curtains, a number of colorful vases and cooking utensils in splendid condition.

The articles for the sale have been gathered from the very best homes in the community and represent the efforts of practically every member of the society working in the interests of the church building fund.

Mrs. E. E. Bacon, president, appointed Mrs. Wheeler as chairman of the committee for the sale with the following working assistants: Mmes. Robert Corlette, Milford Thompson, N. W. Tarr, J. M. Campbell, Frank Barbour and S. H. Guilford.

The sale will continue thruout the day and will terminate in the hard times dinner and entertainment at the church, commencing at 6:30. Mrs. A. N. Snell, chairman, announced this morning that anyone appearing in "dressy" clothes would be heavily fined, as costumes of the day will consist of rags and tatters. The "hard times" motif will be carried out in the table decorations and in the menu for the supper. Harvest appointments, pumpkin bowls for the sunflowers, orange and black crepe paper clothes and napkins and family service are promised by Mrs. Snell.

The chairman will be assisted by Mmes. W. J. Ropp, Convers Twycross, Allen T. Gay, L. Rice, F. A. Hartman, Swift, Clarence Bandy, Embury, Stinman, J. C. Dickson, Harold Roberts, Albert Wheeling and Miss Leah Fletcher. Games and a Hallowe'en program will follow the supper, to which the public is cordially invited.

Attended Stanford-U.S.C. Game

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Woehler of 718 West Manzanita Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. J. Milhaupt of Los Angeles, spent last week-end in the northern part of the state. The main object of the game was to attend the Stanford-U.S.C. game at Palo Alto.

Judge L. C. Barrett of San Diego, a former resident of Sierra Madre is visiting his niece, Mrs. Maud Berg of 138 West Montecito. Judge Barrett arrived Sunday.

Mrs. E. S. Kaplan has returned to her home on West Highland Avenue, having just completed a several months' tour. Mrs. Kaplan is a trained nurse and will continue her practice.

Mrs. L. M. Roulette of 377 Sycamore Drive is spending a few days at the home of her son in San Diego prior to taking up winter residence at Santa Barbara. Mrs. Roulette has rented her home but expects eventually to return to Sierra Madre, where she has lived for several years.

Pioneer Of Villa Hotel Locates Here

Returns to Sierra Madre After Long Search for Ideal Home Site

Left Here When Pasadena Was Mere Speck on Face of Valley

"After a search of ten years for an ideal spot in which to settle, and after having visited all parts of the United States, Canada and the Hawaiian Islands we have decided upon Sierra Madre as the most beautiful spot on the face of the earth," was the statement today by W. Lauren Rhoades, retired manager of the Paraffine Companies of Los Angeles.

Mr. Rhoades, accompanied by Mrs. Rhoades, is stopping at the Hotel Sierra Madre and is renewing old acquaintances made forty years ago when he lived with his father, proprietor of the famous Sierra Madre Villa.

In his many travels, which have taken him to all parts of the world, Mr. Rhoades has time and again encountered friends who formerly stopped at the villa, in the days when it was famous from coast to coast as one of the resorts of California. Invariably the beauty of the setting, the majestic hills, the spreading oaks and the lovely gardens have been recalled by the guests at the hotel, which was in those days the only spot between the foothills and Los Angeles, over the old Orange Grove avenue road.

Memories of the scenic beauty, the climate and the neighbors who began to settle the valley shortly before he left in 1884 have drawn Mr. Rhoades back to Sierra Madre, after an absence of forty years, to make his permanent residence.

During the past few days Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades have been looking about the community for a spot in which to locate, but have not yet decided upon the exact site for their home.

In the mean time they have visited the original Rhoades home, which still stands on the mesa west of town, and incidents of his boyhood, spent in that lovely spot, are recalled.

In the days when there was no town of Sierra Madre, and the nearest ranch was the Baldwin place, Mr. Rhoades, Sr., and his family arrived from the east to locate in the foothills. In 1874 the residence, which later was added to and used as a regional home, was built.

The rolling acres, used then only as pasture for sheep, as was the vast and fertile acreage lying between the hills and Los Angeles, were planted to oranges, and the Rhoades grove became one of the first in this section of the valley, patterned upon those young groves near what is now Alhambra and Monrovia.

The envy of the country side in those days of pioneering was the family phaeton brought from the east for Mr. Rhoades' mother, and used by her when she went to Los Angeles. During the winter months, when the "middle road," now the crowded Valley Boulevard—was used to reach the village of Los Angeles where the month's trading was done, the phaeton was periodically stuck in one "dobe road bed until help was summoned from the nearest ofncho.

Los Angeles-bound travelers in those days invariably went armed, not only against the wild beasts of prey which prowled the valley after dark, but also against the notorious band of cattle and horse thieves who had headquarters in the Santa Monica hills, and who preyed on the whole valley.

At the insistence of friends, who were continually visiting the Rhoades home, the residence was remodelled and in 1877 the Villa came into existence. During the following ten years, which saw the settlement of Pasadena and the gradual planting of the country to oranges and grapes, wealthy guests from Europe and the eastern states visited Sierra Madre Villa, and its fame as a summer resort spread.

Many of the first settlers of this community were attracted to Sierra Madre through reports of the inn and through visits to it. The Barnes family, which was responsible for the settling of Pasadena in 1880 first became impressed with the country while on the way to the villa, and later to Southern California, by friends from Inland.

Interesting News Notes from Sierra Madre Canyon

The Canyon Improvement Association is arranging a Halloween jollification. The affair will be a costume party to be held on Saturday evening in the Canyon Club House. All Canyon residents and visitors are invited to attend. Each woman is requested to bring one or more pumpkin pies, depending upon the capacity of her family or friends and all those attending are asked to bring a plate, fork and glass. A pleasant evening is assured by the committee in charge. The evening will also be made the occasion for installing the officers of the Canyon Improvement Association elected last week.

John Lorenzini and Roy Kaya have been awarded the contract for building a new wall along the south and east sides of Robert Nuccio's property on Sturtevant Road. The wall is the 12 to 20 feet high at certain points and is approximately 200 feet long. The work was made necessary because of the sharp grading done near the Nuccio home for the paving of Sturtevant Road.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Corum entertained a group of Canyon friends and neighbors at their home on Sturtevant Road Tuesday evening. E. I. Lawrent of Los Angeles was the guest of honor. Mr. Lawrent, who is a student of "Truth," gave a very interesting talk on "Life." The Corum home was artistically decorated in Halloween colors and refreshments were served after the lecture. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. S. Petzel, Mr. and Mrs. James Heasley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Cox, Mmes. L. E. Wheeler, L. S. High, W. J. Stevenson, Messrs. Ed Harrington, Eugene D. Harrington, W. R. Laster, W. T. Michael, Jack Moffitt, Misses Alice Corum and Florence Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pomeroy Eaton and Mr. and Mrs. B. Crowe of Los Angeles, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Marion Jones on Saturday and Sunday at their Canyon home on Alta Vista Drive.

Miss Ella M. Halstrum and Hartwig B. Henry were guests of honor at a surprise shower given by the Misses Esther Olson and Clara Swanson at the home of Miss Olson in Alhambra on Saturday evening. The time was pleasantly spent in playing buncos after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses. Miss Halstrum and Mr. Henry, who garden sports were the only entertainments, the period was a lively one, and long visits were exchanged among neighbors, according to Mr. Rhoades, who in 1884 finally left to enter business in San Francisco.

Years spent in roaming about the world have only strengthened the tie which has bound Mr. Rhoades to Sierra Madre and conditions in the present day community have in no way disappointed him, is his emphatic statement.

will be married the latter part of this month, were presented with an electric waffle iron. Besides the hostesses and guests of honor those present were Mr. and Mrs. Einar Halstrum, Mr. and Mrs. A. Borgeson, Misses Esther, Olga and Helga Hakenson, Norene Moen, Mildred Forslund, Evelyn Krohn, Evelyn Swanson, Agnes Bloomquist, Messrs. Frank Wingren, Lenart Henry, Alvin Henry, Bob Green, Francis Benson and Lawrence Erickson.

Mrs. Laura M. Cline is making a number of alterations and improvements on her Harmony cottage at the intersection of Woodland Drive and Sturtevant Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Slocum are occupying Mrs. Laura M. Cline's cottage, Vista del Valle. Mr. Slocum is superintendent of construction at the county flood control dam being built at the upper end of the canyon.

Misses Marian Osburn, Ruth and Adda Spreng, all of Redondo Beach, spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Virge Inn Cottage.

Mrs. Josephine M. Maguire of 3524 West Pico street, Los Angeles, has purchased Acorn Inn on Woodland Drive. This property was formerly owned by Mrs. Nettie J. Forrest. Mrs. Maguire, who has a dry goods and ready-to-wear shop in Los Angeles, plans to make her future home in the canyon.

Miss Minerva J. Boatright occupied Cadmus Camp over the week end. Miss Boatright, a frequent Canyon visitor, has been office assistant to Dr. R. A. Terry of Long Beach for a number of years.

Frank J. Erwin, sons Frank, Robert and William of Los Angeles, are occupying Acorn Inn for a week to be near Mrs. Erwin who has been a guest in Rocky Ridge Cottage for a month.

Mrs. C. H. Warren, a former resident, was a visitor at Cadmus Villa on Saturday.

Mrs. E. A. Anderson motored to Long Beach Wednesday to visit her 15-day-old grandson Danny, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burke.

Mrs. Robert Cliff, Mrs. O. R. Bagby, Canyon residents, and Mrs. Edwin Slosson of Pasadena had luncheon in Los Angeles on Tuesday.

Misses Carrie, Laura and Bess Bacon, sisters of E. E. Bacon, were entertained at luncheon on Wednesday by Miss Martha Ramsey and Rev. S. M. Ramsey at their home "View Crest" on Brookside Lane and Canyon Crest Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Mogul, former residents and proprietors of the Mogul Tea Garden, visited in the Canyon Monday evening. Mr. Mogul is now engaged in radio manufacturing in Hollywood and reports his business flourishing.

Mrs. Clarence L. Virgin of Pasadena, formerly a resident here, spent Wednesday and Thursday in the Canyon visiting her mother, Mrs. Ella A. Cadmus. Mr. Virgin, who is associated with John E. Brown, the well known evangelist, is at present in Oklahoma City. Mr. Virgin plans to leave for Boston soon where Mr. Brown will conduct a union evangelistic campaign.

'Big Parade' Still Draws Big Crowds

"The Big Parade" which opened last night at the Wistaria Theatre will continue to hold the screen tonight and Saturday. Manager Swanson believes this great war epic will be so popular as to require more than the customary two-day run. Many people who have seen it will want to see it again, and many others who have not seen it when shown at the metropolitan houses have been wishing for a chance to see it at home. John Gilbert and Renee Adoree have the principal roles in this tremendous drama.

Mr. Swanson, by the way, expresses himself as much pleased with the outlook since taking charge of the Wistaria a week ago. He has found Sierra Madre people cordial in their attitude and hopes to create an atmosphere at the Wistaria which will develop a feeling of loyalty to the home town theatre because people really like to go there.

"The Road to Romance," starring Ramon Novarro and coming Sunday night is Novarro's best picture since "Ben Hur." Marceline Day has the featured feminine role.

A new comedy team, Lew Cody and Aileen Pringle, make their screen debut in "Adam and Evil," which opens Tuesday night. No better screen vehicle than this riotous comedy could have been selected for the initial appearance together of these two players. The film is a riot of fast and furious fun.

THE CASE OF MR. HASTINGS

PROPOSALS to start Mattoon Act proceedings or any other mandatory condemnation for a right of way across the Hastings ranch bring forth protests from a number of citizens who fear that Mr. Hastings may be offended. Some of them have known him for many years and consider him as an estimable gentleman who should not be antagonized. They believe the desired highway opening can be secured by what they prefer to call "peaceful means." Hence their criticism of any who take steps toward legal action.

A moment's consideration will show the fallacy of that position. It is true that the extent of the Hastings holdings along the west boundary of Sierra Madre make friendly relations with the owner most desirable. It is true that Mr. Hastings is an estimable gentleman. That is the testimony of his old friends and also of dozens of committeemen from Sierra Madre who have waited upon him during the past twenty years. But the fact remains that all these attempts to negotiate for a right of way have left us right where we started.

But by no manner of means should Mattoon Act proceedings in this case be called unfriendly to Mr. Hastings. Some kind of legal proceedings would be necessary under any agreement which might be reached by negotiation. Suppose the city, the county and Mr. Hastings should arrive at a complete agreement in all details as to the right of way and type of improvement. Then some legal machinery must be put in motion to effect the improvement and to assess and collect the taxes for payment. Mattoon Act proceedings merely provide a short cut to the same result. What is the difference how the necessary adjudication is reached?

As to the Mattoon Act itself, there should be no hesitancy in initiation of the proceedings. It will be long enough before they can be completed. The fact that the Mattoon Act has not been tested judicially in its present form is not stopping other cities with vastly larger interests at stake from using it. They are already initiating test cases which will probably be settled before our own case gets to the crucial point. Such preliminary steps as can be taken in the mean time will not be lost. This will be largely in the nature of engineering work which will be necessary for any proceedings that are followed.

Let's have less doleful prophecies and more cordial approval for anybody who is willing to devote time and energy to seeing this highway project through to a finish. More power to 'em!

A ONE-MAN TOWN

SIERRA MADRE has suffered strangely in the past from lack of leadership. The odd part of it has been that there was no lack of leaders, men with a proven capacity for getting things done. Through some singular psychological process it has usually been possible to characterize Sierra Madre as a one-man town.

No one man owned the town. No one man was in a position to dictate to the town through preponderant property holdings or financial power. It was not through party politics for Sierra Madre has not been a center of political activity.

In almost every period there has been some one man to whom almost everything was referred. No important undertaking was launched unless he was in command or in active cooperation. If any important movement was proposed the invariable formula was: "Get So-and-So for chairman. He will put it over." If a stranger came to town to promote or organize something he was always told: "Well, you'd better go and see So-and-So about it. He seems to be the only man who can get things done in this town."

It was not that there was a lack of capable men. Probably it was just following the line of least resistance, which resulted in riding a willing horse to death. So these men have often been forced in self-defense to retire from such active work after a vogue of from one to five years. And someone was always found to take their place. So it was a lack of leadership rather than of potential leaders that tended to the one-man town system.

One of the finest features of Kiwanis International is its method of schooling its officers and members in organization work. It is also designed to instill a greater measure of responsibility for public welfare into its members. There are many attractive features to Kiwanis. But the local Kiwanis club will justify its existence if it succeeds in developing a keener sense of responsibility and a greater capacity for effective leadership. And the community will miss an opportunity if it fails to profit thereby.

SLOWER THAN SEVEN-YEAR ITCH (Claremont Courier)

RUNNING a business in which you can neither increase nor lower the price of service without consent of the state railroad commission has its drawbacks.

It was about a year ago when Carl Lorbeer asked that commission for a hearing relative to a change in telephone rates for his system, which includes Claremont. In its own good time such a hearing was called. There were several, in fact, the last being March 17. Not a word from the commission yet as to a decision.

State supervision of charge of service by corporations is conceded to be sensible and practical. But not with a commission that allows the dust of ages to settle on the tomes of the investigation before it can render a decision. On March 17, or soon after, the commission had the testimony—the information—pro and con. What Lorbeer had in mind was a change in rates to apply to the present generation—not for its grandchildren.

A similar instance was an application to the same commission by a Pomona taxicab company for permission to establish taxi service between Pomona and Claremont. It was opposed by the P. E., which has street car service. The P. E. was yet a survivor when the decision was rendered but the taxi company had succumbed.

We need a railroad commission which can decide as well as conduct a hearing, and announce such decision within the memory of those who make application.

IMPROVING ON NATURE (Punkte Journal)

IT is not entirely within the province of man to improve on nature, but now and then evidences come to light to show that modern engineering is pretty much on the job. An instance: Workmen are putting in the Puddingstone dam. The great amount of the fill, in fact all except the top dressing of a foot and a half or two feet is of common, old-fashioned California dirt. Special devices crush and tamp the dirt, and it is soaked down with water before another layer is placed and rolled. Stones are hauled away from the fill and placed at the edge of the huge retaining wall.

The dam is being made a foot and a half or two feet wider than the finished wall will be and it was thought that workmen would be able to use a shovel in trimming the dam down to its proper proportions. Instead, it was found that the fill was more solid than the hills which were placed thousands of years ago by Mother Nature. So, it appears in this way, there has been at least one improvement on nature.

LIFE'S MOST EMBARRASSING MOMENT

For a long time I have owed a fellow citizen $7 and for a long time he has been endeavoring to collect it. The other night I was overhauled by a motor cop for saving wear and tear on my lights after dark. My fellow citizen was with him, and in the excitement I paid him $3 on account. Imagine my embarrassment when I found I had given him two one's and a five, thus paying the total amount!

Being of calm, equable temperament, the wife was surprised, Sunday at my outburst concerning a fool woman driving a car and trying to smoke a cigaret nonchalantly at the same time. She was too fat to be good looking and too dumb to be a good driver even without the handicap, and when she persisted in driving slow and right out in the middle of the road—well, one had a right to become exasperated. She looked as much at home with the cigaret as I'd feel trying to hold a pole cat by the south elevation. Something ought to be done about it.

The reason we didn't bet on the Yanks in the recent world series was that we didn't know Jim Corbett had picked the Pirates to win.

They have just killed off three more Mexican generals. If they could round up a half dozen privates, three corporals and a couple of sergeants, they'd have the rebel army pretty well tied up.

And then there is the Scotch story that Dr. Bovard tells—about the Scotchman who refused a cork-tip cigaret because he didn't like the taste of burnt cork.

A young lady says she was saved from a burning peat bed by standing on her ukelele. The peat was probably cool compared with the hot notes produced on the uke, at that.

Sixth Birthday Is Celebrated—

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Flather's little daughter, Virginia, whose sixth birthday was on the thirteenth of the month, was made happy Saturday when she entertained several friends. The Hal-low-e'en decorative scheme was very prettily carried out. All the little guests were delighted with novelty gaps which they received upon being seated at the table. Games were played during the afternoon, and after the refreshments had been served, several pictures were taken of the little girls in their funny hats. Those present were Marilyn Paschall, Barbara Wages, Betty Jo Adams, Charlene Rasbach, Frances Louise Uter, Georgine Perry and Dorothy Alley.

Spent Week-End at Balboa—

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stover and tiny daughter, Joan, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnstone 3rd, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hosford and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lockhart spent last week-end at Balboa Beach where swimming and boating furnished them plenty of entertainment.

Guests at Bridge Tonight—

Miss Mable Appleby of 57 West Laurel Avenue is entertaining to-night at bridge. Her guest list includes Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rash of Alhambra, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson of Pasadena and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lees, Mrs. Ethel Davis, Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Klunk and Ed Foster.

Honor Guest at Surprise Luncheon—

Mrs. Estelle Fennel of 201 West Carter Avenue, was the honor guest Wednesday at a surprise luncheon given at her home by her daughter, Mrs. Jack Lockhart. Mrs. Fennel, who did not suspect anything out of the ordinary, was in Pasadena with Mrs. Morgan when she received a phone call from her daughter, who said there were visitors at the Fennel home. So Mrs. Fennel, accompanied by Mrs. Morgan, returned home immediately and was pleasantly surprised to find the following luncheon guests: Mrs. Arthur Clough of Los Angeles, Mrs. Palmer Rhoades of Naples, and Mrs. Wm. Morgan, Mrs. Herbert Parker and Mrs. Hadden Bassett. Pastel shades were used in the decorative scheme, which was most charming.

Tiny Son Celebrates First Birthday—

Mr. and Mrs. Lester K. Layton of 560 Sturtevant Road were entertained recently by Mrs. Layton's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Sheer of Los Angeles, whose tiny son, Jackie, celebrated his first birthday. Newest Mission Project Is Discussed—

Brousa, Turkey, where the newest missionary project is located, was the topic of discussion at the meeting of the Congregational Missionary Society Tuesday when sixty members gathered for an all-day meeting. Talks on the undertaking were given by Mrs. Elizabeth Scantlebury, Mrs. S. H. Guilford, Mrs. W. S. Hull, Mrs. L. M. Rice, Mrs. Louise Grey, Mrs. Percy Kortkamp and Mrs. Ralph Lord.

Luncheon was served at noon from tables arranged in yellow and white. Deep yellow candles in crystal holders were placed on yellow runners of crepe paper, while bowls of marguerites added to the charm of the appointments.

Mrs. Milford Thompson, president of the organization, presided at the meeting, while the following committeewomen were in charge of the luncheon: Mrs. Donald Ashmore, Mrs. R. M. Finlayson, Mrs. C. A. Greese and Mrs. Convers Twycross.

Stinman and family will gather for the week end. A romp on the beach and a birthday dinner with a huge birthday cake will be features of the entertainment.

Buffet Supper and Bridge—

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Lieben will be hosts tomorrow at their home, 632 West Montecito Avenue, when they will entertain at a 7 o'clock buffet supper and bridge party. It is the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Lieben to give a bridge breakfast some time soon.

Hostess at Delightful Bridge Luncheon—

Mrs. H. H. Steinberger of South Sunnyside Avenue entertained delightfully yesterday with a bridge luncheon. The house was beautifully decorated with the Hallow-e'en motif and chrysanthemums. The table was very charming. There were black cats pulling orange carts at the guests' places and candle holders containing orange candles were placed on it. The guests were Miss May Weston of Monrovia, Miss Virginia Jones, and Mmes. Robert Steinberger, F. B. Chamberlain, Guy Steinberger, W. R. Morgan, G. I. Farman, Hugo Carlson, Gilbert Bovard, Howard Lieben and Stella Dennison.

Three lots on West Montecito were purchased the first of the week through W. R. Humphries, and Dr. Jones expects to have erected immediately a $25,000 Italian villa.

The famous surgeon became interested in Sierra Madre through his friends, Dr. and Mrs. W. Jarvis Barlow. Dr. Jones has been practicing in Denver, Colo., since the World War, during which he served as a major in the medical corps, A. E. F.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester K. Layton of 560 Sturtevant Road entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Turner and Mrs. Emma Hahn of Alhambra.

Captain J. A. Osgood, who has been very ill at his home, 617 West Montecito Avenue, has improved considerably, according to late reports.

Mrs. J. A. Bradshaw and son had as their guest over the week-end, Mrs. M. A. Kennedy and Mrs. Clara L. Smith of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McCoy, former residents of Monrovia, are now making their home in Sierra Madre, having moved into the house at 183 Santa Anita Court Monday. Mr. McCoy and C. B. Scott, manager for the Southern Counties Gas Co., are brothers-in-law.

For a Humphrey Radiant-

What's Doing At Theatres In Pasadena

The Raymond

Will King, himself, with his own revues in a Fanchon & Marco Idea will be at the Raymond next week with a wealth of clean, wholesome fun.

Marion Davies in "The Fair Co-Ed" will be the feature motion picture attraction at the Raymond next week beginning Friday. It is her newest picture and she takes the part of a student at a small college. She enacts a witty, slangy, wise-cracking, pretty 19-year-old freshee who gets into all kinds of difficulties.

The Strand

Jackie Coogan's new picture "The Bugle Call" now playing at the Strand theatre shows him in a role new to his followers—that of a near-grownup part. He enacts the part of a bugle boy in a cavalry post on the old historic Bosman trail in the days of the Indian wars. His bugle routs an Indian horde in this thrillingly vivid tale which is based on actual history. Claire Windsor, Herbert Rawlinson, Sarah Padden, Tom O'Brien, Harry Todd and others are in the supporting cast.

Billie Dove in "American Beauty," comes to the Strand Sunday. As a typical American girl with an ambition to marry a millionaire, the part played by Miss Dove is a very real one.

The Florence

Charming Renee Adoree has the featured role in "Back to God's Country," James Oliver Curwood's story, playing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 23, 24, 25, at the Florence Theatre. In this colorful role Miss Adoree does some of her best work on the silver screen.

On Wednesday and Thursday the Florence will show one of the season's best balanced pictures, "The Claw." Norman Kerry and Claire Windsor are the stars of this story laid on the African veldt.

The Colorado

Norma Talmadge in the title role of "Camille," the famous romance of Dumas, is the treat in store for the patrons of the Colorado, starting Monday. The story of the screen follows closely the theme and spirit of the classical romance, visualized in settings of the present day.

ALWAYS HUNGRY

"Always hungry" is natural for a boy in his teens. He eats far more than his father, which is logical. His needs are greater. He must eat for the great growth strides he is making; his activities and his body up-keep. Often he grows tall so rapidly that his muscles do not develop properly and there is little fat to cover his bones. He must eat enough of a well balanced diet to grow a skeleton, muscles and fat.

The big problem of the youth is to get enough to eat. His requirements for an adequate diet have not changed since he was a small boy, except larger amounts of some foods. He still needs a quart of milk daily; eggs several times a week, meat about once a day; vegetables two, besides potatoes desirable, a liberal amount of fruit and bread and butter. The high caloric foods must be eaten freely. The boy needs from 2,800 to 4,000 calories daily. He can hardly get his quota of calories from liquid foods and green vegetables alone, despite their necessity in the diet. For calories, add such foods as cottage cheese, butter, jams and honey; dried fruits in cereals and puddings, and peanut butter in sandwiches. Cheese and macaroni add many calories; and with milk the latter dish has an added building value.

Hot breads of all kinds, especially griddle cakes and waffles, should be the rare exceptions and not the rule for growing boys, and even adults. Such food is thought to aid digestion. The boy is apt to overeat at one time because food tastes so good at this age. Overstraining of stomach muscles in youth can be the cause of adult digestive troubles. A sandwich and milk after school is wise for the lad who may eat too much at regular meal time to secure his full food requirements. Coffee and tea should be omitted and cocoa or chocolate with milk used instead.

It costs money to feed a growing boy to sturdy manhood. Economy in food should be exercised in a non-essential diet luxuries of adults and not in the necessities of an adequate diet for the boy.—Christmas Seal Service.

Splendid Film At the Carthay Circle Theatre

When one witnesses the latest Fox Films production "Loves of Carmen," co-starring Dolores del Rio and Victor McLaglen at the Carthay Circle Theatre, Los Angeles, and afterward pleasantly recalls the truly marvelous music from Bizet's opera which Carl Elinor has adapted for the picture and which is played by his famous concert orchestra, the person fortunate enough to have seen this production congratulates himself on having residence in Southern California where the Carthay Circle theatre may be visited whenever the desire arises for entertainment. And when one further contemplates the gorgeous and bewitching prologue, "Spain," staged by Jack Laughlin, prologue director of the theatre, especially for the presentation of "Loves of Carmen," there is surely something to "write back home" about, and to add to our list of the several wonders of the world.

"Loves of Carmen" is now being played twice daily at the Carthay Circle Theatre, matinee performances starting at 2:15 and evening shows at 8:30.

Spook Dance Announced By the Club

Gay and festive, with a "spooky" atmosphere are the activities being used by the members of the Woman's Club to describe the dance which will be given by them Saturday evening, October 29, in the club house. According to the committee women the building will be decked with pumpkins, cornstalks, black-cats, witches and everything that goes to make a successful All-Saints' evening.

Costumes are in order and prizes will be awarded for the best, the most beautiful and the most unique. A door prize also will be given. There will be tables of 500 and bridge for those who do not care to dance, and punch will be served during the evening.

The special committee consists of Mrs. Roland Adams, Mrs. Robert Steinberger, Miss Muriel Tarr and Miss Virginia Jones. The standing committee, Mrs. Robert Corlett, Mrs. Frank Hart and Mrs. Walter Poehler, will assist.

The Literature section of the Woman's Club will meet at 10:30 a. m., Wednesday, October 26, when Mrs. Jack Valley will give the first of a series of seven lectures on current book reviews.

This is an exceptional opportunity offered the club women at a moderate fee and should meet with an enthusiastic response.

Section members are asked to bring their own sandwiches. Coffee will be provided at the luncheon hour.

The afternoon program will be presented by Miss Helen March and Miss Lenore Langdon, former artists of the stage and screen, who have been appearing at many of the woman's clubs throughout Southern California this fall.

Both are comedienne and dramatic artists of renown and Miss March is also a very gifted dancer. Their repertoire is large and varied, and the Sierra Madre club is fortunate to be able to obtain them for the program.

Pegler Will Make Study of Halibut

Will Spend Several Months With Federal Unit in Northern Waters

Ernest Pegler of Sierra Madre has taken a position with the International Fish Commission at Seattle and will devote the next year to study of halibut which are reported to be in danger of extinction as a commercial factor. Information to this effect was received yesterday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton J. Pegler of 415 East Live Oak Avenue.

Young Pegler left last month for Seattle with the expectation of gaining experience in the fish packing industry. He has spent the past two summers in the business at San Pedro and desired more practical work before continuing his school work along the same line. Upon arrival at Seattle he visited the federal bureau of fisheries at the University of Washington. Through acquaintance with one of the federal official whom he had met at San Pedro he was put in touch with the work of the joint commission now carrying on investigations for the United States and Canadian governments.

Early next month he will leave for a voyage up the inland passage to Alaska on a vessel which will make exhaustive investigations of halibut, their distribution, habits, etc. The supply of this important commercial fish has been rapidly depleted, and the industry is threatened with disaster as was the salmon industry a few years ago. It was saved through study of methods of propagation and intelligent husbanding of the resources available. It is hoped the same thing can be done for the halibut supply.

The headquarters of the international fish commission are at the University of Washington and Pegler considers himself very fortunate in having such an opportunity for study and practical experience.

Tramps Take Possession For Evening

Records of the past decade were broken Tuesday evening when ten tramps applied during one evening at the Ralph Stover residence for admittance and food. Weary Willies, who have been kept out of Sierra Madre by the strict surveillance of the authorities, in some manner eluded detection and each and every one made his way to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Stover, who were unable to refuse hospitality.

The "tramps" were guests at a unique farewell party arranged in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lockhart, who are leaving soon for New York City, where Mr. Lockhart will study music. The house had been cleared for the event, even the pictures on the wall having been removed to help create the correct atmosphere.

During the evening of appropriate games, Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart were presented with gifts, to be opened one each day during the journey to New York. Refreshments were served "a la hand-out" on paper plates. Guests included, besides Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. George Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hosford, Mr. and Mrs. Boies Johnstone and Mr. and Mrs. Buster Grey.

Art Classes at Lindley Eddy Studio—

Classes in fabric painting and plaque work will be started at the Lindley Eddy studios next Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Lenore M. Ennis, a Pasadena artist, will be in charge and will give free instruction to those enrolling. The class will meet every Tuesday afternoon. Owing to limited space, Mrs. Hatcher says the number who can be accommodated is not large and those interested will do well to enroll in advance.

Mystery In Suicide Of Ranch Hand

Police are investigating incidents leading to the suicide of Charles Bentley, Santa Anita ranch employe, whose body was found lying on the floor of a small building at the ranch with a bullet wound in the chest. Near the body was a 38-calibre Colt's revolver, identified as the property of Bentley, whom police believe to have taken his own life shortly after 5 o'clock Monday evening.

F. M. McDonald, who shared the cottage with Bentley, discovered the body lying on the floor near the bed, and notified police at 6:45 Monday evening. He stated that he could furnish no clues as to the reason for Bentley's action, and that he had last seen the victim alive at 7 o'clock Sunday evening when he went to work.

Bentley, who was formerly foreman of the ranch, leaves one sister, Mrs. Lena Miller, at Waterbury, Conn. He returned to the ranch recently from South America, where, it is reported, he lost a small fortune, and was forced again to start as a laborer. Despondency over the financial losses is believed to have been responsible for his act. The body was taken to the C. F. Lamb undertaking parlors in Monrovia.

Local Musicians Go To San Diego

Two Sierra Madre musicians will appear in San Diego next Monday night on the program of the Adolph Tandler Little Symphony Orchestra in the Spreckels Theater. Oscar Rasbach, pianist and composer, and Mrs. H. Randolph Wood, soprano, will have important parts. Mr. Rasbach will appear in the ensemble of twelve pianos which was heard recently in the Hollywood Bowl. Mrs. Wood will sing a group of songs, including compositions by Mr. Rasbach, with the latter at the piano. Several Sierra Madre people are planning to attend the event.

Let's gotoit

The season of Let's gotoit is here and folks it keeps me busy buying tickets and getting my only suit pressed so that I can have a place to present the evidence of eating—the vest tells, many times, the story of food. Well here are three events that are interesting:

Tomorrow at the Canaan Club Home the good folks will be glad to welcome all at their Halloween party. Dress up in a sheet or pillow slip and slip up Sycamore place, as Sturtevant Road is torn up. No charge.

A week from today (October 28) the P.T.A. are giving a real party—at the School House. Eats 50c, entertainment free; fun from 5:30 on to a late hour. The kiddies, the teachers and the public, too. So Mr. and Mrs. Public come with a smile—four bits, a dollar appetite and help by your presence the problem of "bringing 'em up."

November the 11th, a date never to be forgotten by all of us—the day of making peace—the boys who went over invite you to enjoy an Armistice Day dance at the Woman's Club House. The American Legion, an organization that carries on a work which many of the public know little about, is sponsoring the dance—if you dance, dance—if you want to chin, chin—if you play cards, play—if you can't come buy tickets anyway. I have the tickets, so buy—come—dance—play—chin—and help. Thanks.

Three important points were given by Mr. French as safe guides in buying oil: Buy recognized brands of known quality, buy from a responsible dealer who will give you what you pay for, and find out the correct grade for your particular car and then stick to it.

Following his talk on lubricants Mr. French gave a brief, pithy conclusion on his "know your oil" text. He said it is up to every business man to "know his oil," in other words to know so much about the thing he sells, whether service or merchandise, that he can forget it and concentrate on the particular need of the customer he is trying to serve. In putting the emphasis on what is best for the customer he will invariably build up a clientele that will in the end redound to his own benefit.
